(d) the measures proposed to encourage cotton growers to get remunerative prices for their crops?

THE MINISTER OF TEXTILES (SHRI R. L. JALAPPA): (a) and (b) There has been no change in the cotton export policy and as such, no new policy has been announed. Government have released, early in the current (1996-97) cotton season, a quota of 5.15 lakh bales for export.

(c) During the current cotton season prices of cotton have marginally fallen, with increased arrivals.

Lower crop estimates for China, Turkey etc. during the 1996-97 season as compared to the previous year, may have an impact on the international prices only later during the season.

(d) Minimum Support Prices (MSP) for cotton have been announced by Government. In the event that cotton on prices fall to MSP levels, the Cotton Corporation of India (CCI) would procure cotton at the MSP, thus protecting the growers' interest. An export quota of 5.15 lakh bales of cotton has been released by Government in the beginning of the season. At present the prices of staple cotton are reported to be 40% to 60% above the support price.
